

A3Q3

Influence

Influence is commonly used in outlier detection. When we are curious about one variate y_u that might be away from the location where most of variates are at, we